→ HALL COUNTY LYON, FRANCE

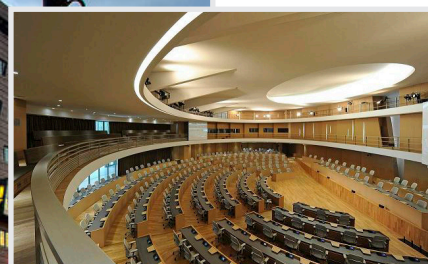

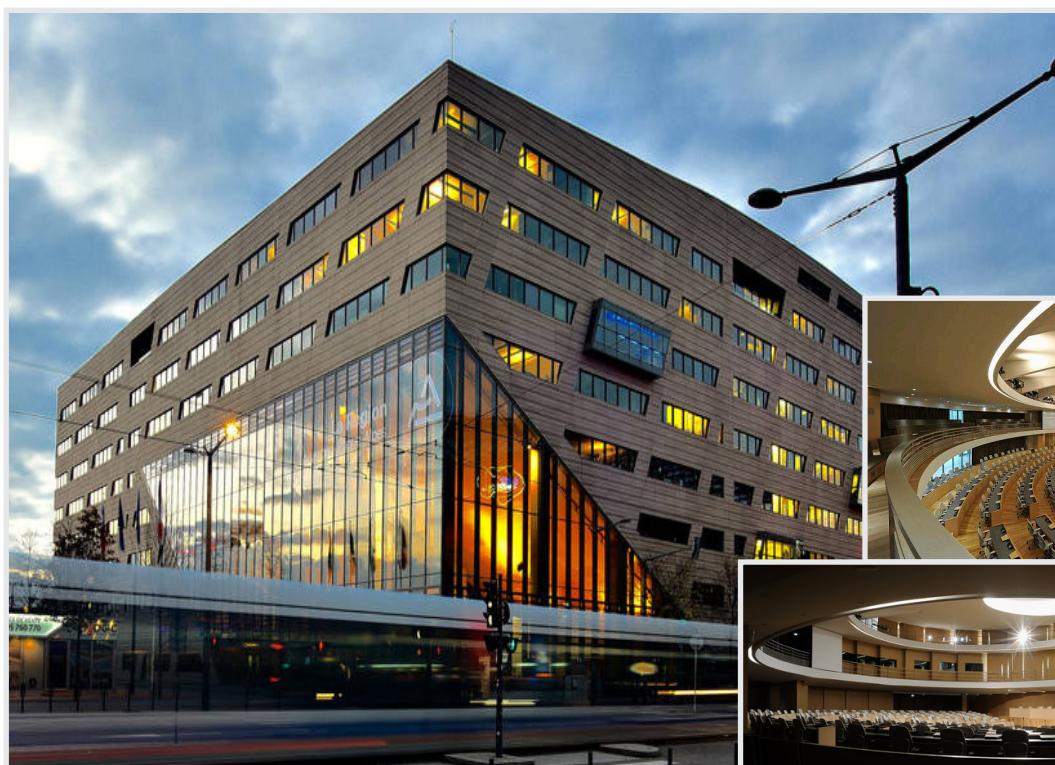

This Hall county was designed by architect Christian de Portzamparc and conceived as a "large common and accessible house". Culminating at a height of 30 meters, a grandiose canopy floods with light the large central alley that serves all the functions that are wrapped around and above it. Organized as a neighborhood; Plots, gardens and alleys follow one another in a zen but dynamic atmosphere. The volume, compact from the outside, here seems hollowed out from the inside, crossed by walkways, endowed with multiple views and various spaces.

SWITCH MADE provided its indoor solutions for this impressive building.
